Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your request of 22 October 2025, for the release of information held by the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA). For reference your original enquiry was as follows:

I am writing to request information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 regarding aircraft operations at Lleweni Parc Ltd (trading as Denbigh Gliding), located at The Airfield, Lleweni, Mold Road, Denbigh LL16 4BN. Specifically, I would like to request the following information for the period January 2024 to October 2025.

- Records of aircraft movements at the above airfield, including take-offs and landings (whether powered or glider-towed), where available from flight plans, transponder data, or other air traffic records.*
- Aircraft registration numbers (tail numbers) and corresponding aircraft types associated with these movements.*
- Any exemptions, permissions, or operational designations granted by the CAA to Lleweni Parc Ltd or Denbigh Gliding regarding flight operations, airspace use, or aircraft type limitations.*
- Any reports, investigations, or enforcement actions undertaken by the CAA concerning operations at this airfield, including possible breaches of planning, airspace rules or flight activity exceeding local or CAA permissions.*

If any of the requested data is held only in part or in another format (for example, through NATS or flight tracking data available to the CAA), please advise on what information can be released and whether a refined request would be more appropriate. Please provide the information electronically to my email address.

Your request has been considered in line with the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA). I can confirm that following a review of held information it has been determined that the CAA holds no information within scope of this request.

It should be that that Denbigh Gliding is not a CAA Approved Organisation. I can therefore only suggest that you contact the British Gliding Association (BGA) as their records may better suit your area of study. As a separate and unique public body I am unsure as to what, if any, additional information they would hold or be in a position to release you:

The CAA has a formal internal review process for dealing with appeals or complaints in connection with Freedom of Information requests. The key steps in this process are set out below. A request for an internal review should be submitted within 40 working days of the date of this letter.

Should you remain dissatisfied with the outcome you have a right under Section 50 of the FOIA to appeal against the decision by contacting the Information Commissioner at:-

CAA INTERNAL REVIEW & COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

- The original case to which the appeal or complaint relates is identified and the case file is made available;
- The appeal or complaint is allocated to an Appeal Manager, the appeal is acknowledged.
- The Appeal Manager reviews the case to understand the nature of the appeal or complaint, reviews the actions and decisions taken in connection with the original case and takes account of any new information that may have been received. This will typically require contact with those persons involved in the original case and when necessary consultation with the CAA Legal Department;
- The Appeal Manager concludes the review and, after consultation with those involved with the case, and if necessary the CAA Legal Department, agrees on the course of action to be taken;
- The Appeal Manager prepares the necessary response and collates any information to be provided to the applicant;

- The response and any necessary information is sent to the applicant, together with information about further rights of appeal to the Information Commissioners Office, including full contact details.
- An internal review cannot address issues outside of the scope of the original request.
- You, as the applicant, may raise concerns as to why you think the CAA (and any exemptions relied upon) were incorrect in our application of the terms of the FOIA.
- The internal review mechanism should not be used to raise additional further requests for information; this should be done by way of another first stage information request.
