Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in respect of your request of 20 July 2017, for the release of information held by the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA). Please accept my apologies for the delay in responding to the request.

Your request:

'Please provide me with information, questions or correspondence the CAA has received from Alphabet Inc. or its subsidiary Google in relation to the flights of UAVs (drones) in UK airspace.

Please also provide me with correspondence between the CAA and Amazon Inc, dating from January 1 2017 to July 20 2017, regarding operations of UAVs (drones) in UK airspace.

Finally, please can you provide me with an current list of approved EVLOS and BVLOS UAV (drone) operators in the UK.'

Our response:

Having considered your request in line with the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), we are able to provide the information below.

The CAA has not received any information, questions or correspondence from Alphabet Inc. or its subsidiary Google, in relation to the flights of UAVs in the UK.

Please find attached copies of communications that have taken place between Amazon and the CAA dating from 1 January 2017 to 20 July 2017. You will find that some information has either been removed or redacted, it is the CAA's view that the information should not be released for the reasons set out below. A copy of all relevant exemptions under FOIA can be found at the end of this letter.

Section 44 – Prohibitions on disclosure

We have not included any information that has been submitted to us by Amazon in support of their application for an exemption or permission from the CAA. The release of information that was provided to the CAA as part of the application requirements to obtain a permission under, or an exemption from, the Air Navigation Order 2009 is prohibited from disclosure by Section 23 of the Civil Aviation Act 1982. Under Section 23, any information which relates to a particular person or organisation, and has been furnished to the CAA pursuant to an Air Navigation Order, must not be disclosed by the CAA unless such disclosure is authorised by one of the exceptions contained in Section 23 itself.

Section 44(1)(a) of the FOIA provides that information is exempt if its disclosure is prohibited by, or under any enactment and Section 23 of the Civil Aviation Act is such a statutory prohibition. Section 44 is an absolute exemption and is not subject to the public interest test.

Section 43 – Commercial interest

The CAA's view is that disclosure would reveal unique information relating to Amazon's drone operations and is commercially sensitive. Such information is exempt under Section 43(2) of the FOIA, which covers information where disclosure would, or would be likely to, prejudice the commercial interest of any person. A person may be an individual, company, the public authority itself or any other legal entity.

Release of this information into the public domain would make commercially sensitive information about Amazon's drone operations available to competitors, revealing Amazon's operational strategies, which has the potential to be exploited by competitors. Disclosure would therefore prejudice the commercial interests of Amazon by affecting their ability to compete fairly.

As Section 43 is a qualified exemption, we have also considered whether, in all the circumstances of the case, the public interest in withholding the information outweighs the public interest in disclosure.

The public interest in disclosing the information include the general principles of transparency and open government, the public right of access to information held and how the CAA performs its regulatory roles. The CAA recognises that with the increased use of drones over recent years, there is a broader public interest in how the CAA considers applications for the use of drones.

However, there is a strong public interest in allowing companies to carry out their commercial activities, free from outside pressures and in a fair competitive environment, without having their work exploited by competitors.

Having considered the factors on both sides the CAA has concluded that, in relation to the information redacted in accordance with Section 43(2), the public interest in disclosure is outweighed by the public interest in maintaining the exemption and the information has, therefore, been withheld.

Section 41 – Information provided in confidence

In addition, we have also redacted information on page 7 and 23 as it relates to information to be discussed at planned meetings and we consider that the information itself holds the necessary quality of confidence and therefore, should be protected. Disclosure would be a breach of that confidence and this information is therefore exempt from disclosure under section 41 of the FOIA.

Section 40 – Personal Information

We have redacted personal data in accordance with Section 40(2) of the FOIA as to release the information would be unfair to the individuals concerned and would therefore contravene the first data protection principle that personal data shall be processed fairly and lawfully. Section 40 is an absolute exemption and is not subject to the public interest test.

EVLOS and BVLOS Operators

Please find attached a list of operators who have been approved to conduct EVLOS and BVLOS operations in the UK.

If you are not satisfied with how we have dealt with your request in the first instance you should approach the CAA in writing at:-

The CAA has a formal internal review process for dealing with appeals or complaints in connection with Freedom of Information requests. The key steps in this process are set in the attachment.

Should you remain dissatisfied with the outcome you have a right under Section 50 of the FOIA to appeal against the decision by contacting the Information Commissioner at:-

Information Commissioner's Office

If you wish to request further information from the CAA, please use the form on the CAA website at <http://publicapps.caa.co.uk/modalapplication.aspx?appid=24>.

Yours sincerely

Rihanne Stephen
Information Rights Officer

CAA INTERNAL REVIEW & COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

- The original case to which the appeal or complaint relates is identified and the case file is made available;
- The appeal or complaint is allocated to an Appeal Manager, the appeal is acknowledged and the details of the Appeal Manager are provided to the applicant;
- The Appeal Manager reviews the case to understand the nature of the appeal or complaint, reviews the actions and decisions taken in connection with the original case and takes account of any new information that may have been received. This will typically require contact with those persons involved in the original case and consultation with the CAA Legal Department;
- The Appeal Manager concludes the review and, after consultation with those involved with the case, and with the CAA Legal Department, agrees on the course of action to be taken;
- The Appeal Manager prepares the necessary response and collates any information to be provided to the applicant;
- The response and any necessary information is sent to the applicant, together with information about further rights of appeal to the Information Commissioners Office, including full contact details.

Freedom of Information Act: Section 44

(1) Information is exempt information if its disclosure (otherwise than under this Act) by the public authority holding it-

- (a) is prohibited by or under any enactment,
- (b) is incompatible with any Community obligation, or
- (c) would constitute or be punishable as a contempt of court.

(2) The duty to confirm or deny does not arise if the confirmation or denial that would have to be given to comply with section 1(1)(a) would (apart from this Act) fall within any of paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1).

Freedom of Information Act: Section 43

(1) Information is exempt information if it constitutes a trade secret.

(2) Information is exempt information if its disclosure under this Act would, or would be likely to, prejudice the commercial interests of any person (including the public authority holding it).

(3) The duty to confirm or deny does not arise if, or to the extent that, compliance with section 1(1)(a) would, or would be likely to, prejudice the interests mentioned in section (2).

Freedom of Information Act: Section 41

(1) Information is exempt information if-

- (a) it was obtained by the public authority from any other person (including another public authority), and
- (b) the disclosure of the information to the public (otherwise than under this Act) by the public authority holding it would constitute a breach of confidence actionable by that or any other person.

(2) The duty to confirm or deny does not arise if, or to the extent that, the confirmation or denial that would have to be given to comply with section 1(1)(a) would (apart from this Act) constitute an actionable breach of confidence.

Freedom of Information Act: Section 40

(1) Any information to which a request for information relates is exempt information if it constitutes personal data of which the applicant is the data subject.

(2) Any information to which a request for information relates is also exempt information if-

- (a) it constitutes personal data which do not fall within subsection (1), and
- (b) either the first or the second condition below is satisfied.

(3) The first condition is-

- (a) in a case where the information falls within any of paragraphs (a) to (d) of the definition of "data" in section 1(1) of the Data Protection Act 1998, that the disclosure of the information to a member of the public otherwise than under this Act would contravene-

- (i) any of the data protection principles, or
- (ii) section 10 of that Act (right to prevent processing likely to cause damage or distress), and

- (b) in any other case, that the disclosure of the information to a member of the public otherwise than under this Act would contravene any of the data protection principles if the exemptions in section 33A(1) of the Data Protection Act 1998 (which relate to manual data held by public authorities) were disregarded.

(4) The second condition is that by virtue of any provision of Part IV of the Data Protection Act 1998 the information is exempt from section 7(1)(c) of that Act (data subject's right of access to personal data).

(5) The duty to confirm or deny-

- (a) does not arise in relation to information which is (or if it were held by the public authority would be) exempt information by virtue of subsection (1), and
- (b) does not arise in relation to other information if or to the extent that either-
 - (i) the giving to a member of the public of the confirmation or denial that would have to be given to comply with section 1(1)(a) would (apart from this Act) contravene any of the data protection principles or section 10 of the Data Protection Act 1998 or would do so if the exemptions in section 33A(1) of that Act were disregarded, or
 - (ii) by virtue of any provision of Part IV of the Data Protection Act 1998 the information is exempt from section 7(1)(a) of that Act (data subject's right to be informed whether personal data being processed).

(6) In determining for the purposes of this section whether anything done before 24th October 2007 would contravene any of the data protection principles, the exemptions in Part III of Schedule 8 to the Data Protection Act 1998 shall be disregarded.

(7) In this section-

"the data protection principles" means the principles set out in Part I of Schedule 1 to the Data Protection Act 1998, as read subject to Part II of that Schedule and section 27(1) of that Act;

"data subject" has the same meaning as in section 1(1) of that Act;

"personal data" has the same meaning as in section 1(1) of that Act.

Hi [REDACTED],

Sorry for the slight delay in getting back to you, I've been out a lot.

The final CAA names for next Tuesday are myself, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].

We'll be travelling together and will be aiming to get there for 1030. I'm assuming that it is the same location as last year?

As long as its weather permitting we will fly for sure. If the weather does not cooperate we will make it worthwhile. The facility update is worth the trip alone. October 25th is blocked off in our schedule. Once you have an attendee list and confirmations we will put together a formal schedule.

Regarding the attendees, we are aiming to maintain a high level of transparency so a slight extension of the CAA attendee list is ok on our end (as long as bound by same confidentiality requirements). We just request you provide a list of the attendees so we can prepare accordingly. I'm still pending a repose regarding the AAIB attendee, but don't foresee this being an issue. [REDACTED],

Sorry for the slight delay in replying – Yes, Tues 25 Oct sounds to be good so let's plan for that. I'll circulate the date round the team and will let you know who is able to attend – obviously though, we would really wish to see some flying, so if it looks like the test schedule will preclude this, then we would prefer to select another date. Anyway, let's start a plan for the 25th.

The staff members that I'll be looking to bring will be similar to last time – the UAS policy team and the UAS approval team (ie. the people you will have directly been involved with), but I might look to extending this to one or two of our comms team as well (as they were closely involved with responding to questions following your Press release in the summer) – again, the aim is for us to keep up a level of awareness so that we are properly informed.

You may recall that I had a request from one of my colleagues at the AAIB (NTSB equivalent) if he could attend as well. Before I mention the date to him, did you manage to get any feelings for this being ok? He is bound by exactly the same confidentiality requirements as we are (probably tighter ones actually).

[REDACTED],

Tuesday October 25th for a site visit will work well for the team. Let me know the availability/attendance roster, and we will solidify/formalize the visit.

To avoid weather being a blocker, we will build flexibility into the days plan. Depending on our test schedule and progress we may not be flying on that day. As such we will focus on giving a detailed tour of the facility, show you our vehicles (if not flying), and give you a video overview of our operation (if not flying). Regardless we will ensure the visit provides value and insight into our operational rigor and workflow.

Look forward to getting the ball rolling.

Hi [REDACTED],

Looking at your suggested dates, from a personal perspective, apart from 19, 20, 28 and 31 October, any of those dates are fine with me at the moment. I haven't checked up on other people's dates however as it will get too complicated.

It's unlikely that we would manage to get everyone together and so it is probably better for you to select a day (with a 'spare' for the weather perhaps) and we will see how many people we can get free – as I mentioned of course, don't start basing your filming activities around our availability though.

Just following up relating to an update on the [REDACTED]. Any progress?

Additionally, it looks like the week of October 12th – 14th (site visit) there is an unfortunate conflict. How about sometime between October 17th – 31st? Let us know what works best for the team.

[REDACTED],

Thanks for getting back to me. It was very helpful. My comments are in line:

1. No, from our perspective, you do not need to have any additional authorisations to film your aircraft – Excellent. Thanks for the clarification.
2. Yes, we would still be interested in visiting your test site (we were of course originally planning to visit on 1 Jun anyway). If a visit can be combined with the filming of your video, then this would be fine, but we would not want you to start basing the timing of your filming activities around us – if we can make it on the specified date, then fine. If not, perhaps we can look to scheduling a visit at another time? Do you have a planned date for the filming yet? It would be a similar group from the CAA as we planned last time (plus a couple of new people too). I've also had a request from a member of our Air Accident Investigation Branch (UK equivalent of the NTSB) to visit too if possible? He would obviously be kept under strict confidentiality rules too. – At this time we don't have a date set in stone for filming but looks like it will be sometime in mid-October (12th – 14th). In terms of attendance I would anticipate a similar group as was previously agreed. If you could provide an updated list of potential attendees available between October 12th – 14th, I'll start organizing the visit. In terms of AAIB attendance let me vet this through the appropriate channels.
3. Regarding your [REDACTED], we hope to get the exemption completed and back to you very soon. We just need [REDACTED] to find a bit of spare time this week to make a final check from his perspective – Thanks for the update. Ill follow-up next week. Please don't hesitate to contact me if the team has any comments or questions.

[REDACTED],

I hope you have been well. I have a couple of question I'm hoping you or your fellow colleges can assist with.

1. In the coming months we are planning on filing a promotional video for Prime Air, showcasing some of our technology and vehicles. This will be conducted within the confines of our currently approved flight space. With respect to approvals do we need any special authorizations to film our vehicles for promotional use?
2. Would you and your team be interested in visiting our test site during the filming of this promotional video? This may be a good opportunity for you see our updated facility and preview our daily operational workflow.
3. Do you have an update on our recent EVLOS [REDACTED] submission? There was an unfortunate mix up relating to payment that resulted in a substantial delay. Any updates would be helpful on our end.

Thank you in advance for the help. Look forward to syncing up.
