Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in respect of your recent request of 22 March 2018, for the release of information held by the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA). Your request has been considered in line with the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA).

Your request:

'Documentation that puts a quantitative risk figure on the annual chance that an aircraft doesn't make it to the Heathrow runway and instead lands through the houses or towns on the approach. Similar for aircraft departures.

Specifically I'd like to know what the risks at Heathrow are, both for landing and take-off with respect to fatality numbers and property destruction and the calculated return period for such accidents.

Information requested is likely to be in a Heathrow Risk Analysis report.'

Our response:

The Health and Safety Laboratory were asked by the Airports Commission to assess the likelihood of an aircraft crash in the vicinity of Heathrow and Gatwick airports. The study published in 2015 can be obtained at:
